

Lauren Sanchez's Engagement Ring: Pink Diamond, Carat, Price & Story

The contrast is what makes the ring so striking. A massive colored diamond sits above a relatively slim band, allowing the center stone to remain the undisputed focus.

The ring's value has been estimated at approximately $3 million to $5 million or more, depending on the diamond's exact color, clarity, origin, and grading.

When Did Jeff Bezos Propose to Lauren Sanchez?

Jeff Bezos proposed to Lauren Sánchez in May 2023 during a vacation in the south of France.

The proposal reportedly took place aboard Bezos's superyacht, Koru. The couple had been together for several years before becoming engaged.

The ring immediately attracted attention because of the extraordinary size and unusual color of its center diamond.

Who Is Lauren Sanchez's Fiancé?

Lauren Sánchez's fiancé at the time of the proposal was Jeff Bezos, the founder of Amazon and Blue Origin.

The couple's relationship became public in 2019. They became engaged several years later, in 2023.

They eventually married in June 2025 in Venice, Italy, meaning the ring is now technically her former engagement ring, although Sánchez has continued to wear it as part of her jewelry collection.

What Does Lauren Sanchez's Engagement Ring Look Like?

The ring is dominated by an enormous pink cushion-cut diamond.

The center stone has softly rounded corners and a substantial rectangular shape. Its subtle pink or rose tone makes it especially unusual compared with the colorless diamonds commonly used in engagement rings.

The diamond sits above a comparatively thin pavé band, creating a dramatic contrast between the enormous center stone and delicate-looking shank.

The Pink Cushion-Cut Diamond

The most important feature of Lauren's ring is its center stone.

Sánchez revealed to Vogue that the diamond has a slight rose tone, confirming that it is not simply a colorless diamond photographed under warm lighting.

Pink diamonds are particularly desirable because naturally occurring stones with noticeable pink color are exceptionally rare.

The intensity of the color can have a major effect on value, which is one reason estimates for this ring vary significantly.

How Many Carats Is Lauren Sanchez's Engagement Ring?

The exact carat weight has not been publicly confirmed.

Jewelry experts have generally estimated the diamond at 20 to 30 carats, with Vogue reporting that some experts believe it could be around 30 carats.

ELLE similarly cited experts who estimated the stone at approximately 25 to 30 carats.

Because there is no publicly available grading report confirming the weight, it is better to describe the ring as approximately 20–30 carats rather than presenting 30 carats as a confirmed specification.

What Color Is Lauren Sanchez's Diamond?

Lauren Sánchez's engagement ring features a pink diamond with a subtle rose tone.

This is one of the most important details about the ring because colored diamonds can command significantly different prices depending on their color intensity and quality.

Experts have noted that the exact hue, saturation, clarity, origin, and grading of the stone would have a major impact on its final value.

What Setting Does Lauren Sanchez's Ring Have?

The large diamond is held in a cathedral-style setting with a pavé band.

The thin band contains numerous smaller diamonds, adding sparkle without competing visually with the enormous center stone.

The diamond is also secured by prongs on its sides, while two hidden pavé halos provide additional support and sparkle around the center stone.

What Metal Is Lauren Sanchez's Engagement Ring Made Of?

The ring is widely believed to feature a platinum setting.

Platinum is a logical choice for a stone of this size because it is durable and provides a secure foundation for the diamond and surrounding pavé stones.

However, the exact metal specification has not been officially confirmed, so it is best described as likely platinum rather than definitively platinum.

Who Designed Lauren Sanchez's Engagement Ring?

The designer of Lauren Sánchez's original engagement ring has not been officially confirmed.

Some jewelry coverage has associated the ring with Lorraine Schwartz, but the strongest available reporting does not establish the designer with certainty.

This distinction is important because Sánchez later wore another spectacular diamond ring associated with Schwartz during her 2025 wedding celebrations. That later ring should not automatically be identified as the original engagement ring.

How Much Is Lauren Sanchez's Engagement Ring Worth?

The ring has been estimated at approximately $3 million to $5 million.

Jeweler Briony Raymond gave an estimate in that range based on the apparent color, clarity, and size of the diamond.

Other experts have suggested higher figures, particularly if the stone possesses an exceptionally desirable pink color and exceptional clarity. ELLE reported estimates ranging from several million dollars to substantially higher figures depending on the diamond's characteristics.

Therefore, the safest description is that the ring is widely estimated to be worth several million dollars, with $3 million-$5 million being one of the most frequently cited ranges.

Why Is Lauren Sanchez's Engagement Ring So Expensive?

The value is driven primarily by the center diamond.

Three characteristics are particularly important:

- Size: A 20-30-carat natural diamond is extraordinarily large.
- Color: A natural pink diamond is considerably rarer than a typical colorless diamond.
- Quality: Color, clarity, cut, origin, and certification can dramatically change the value of a stone this rare.

The surrounding pavé diamonds and platinum setting add value, but the enormous pink center stone accounts for most of the ring's potential worth.

What Makes a Pink Diamond So Rare?

Pink diamonds are among the rarest naturally occurring colored diamonds.

Unlike a traditional colorless diamond, the value of a pink diamond is heavily influenced by the strength and quality of its color.

A more intense and desirable pink can significantly increase a stone's value.

That is particularly important with Lauren's ring because even a small difference in color saturation could produce a substantial difference in the final valuation.

Lauren Sanchez's Engagement Ring vs. Her 2025 Wedding Ring

This is where many online articles become confusing.

Lauren Sánchez was photographed wearing another enormous diamond ring during her 2025 wedding celebrations.

That later ring featured an oval diamond estimated by experts at approximately 30-40 carats, set in platinum with a hidden halo and pavé diamonds. Harper's Bazaar reported an estimated value of around $4 million.

That is not the same ring as the original 2023 engagement ring.

Original Engagement Ring

- Pink diamond
- Cushion cut
- Approximately 20–30 carats, estimated
- Thin pavé band
- Estimated $3–5 million+

Later Wedding Ring

- White/colorless diamond
- Oval cut
- Approximately 30-40 carats, estimated
- Platinum setting
- Estimated around $4 million

The distinction is important for anyone researching Lauren Sanchez’s engagement ring specifically.
